Commencement Speaker

Captain Scotty Smiley

Captain Scotty Smiley, a Ranger and combat-diver qualified infantryman, was the Army's first active-duty blind officer and its first blind company commander. On April 6, 2005, he lost use of both eyes when a suicide car bomber blew himself up 30 meters in front of Captain Smiley's Stryker vehicle. Since that day, Captain Smiley has surfed in Hawaii, skied in Vail, skydived, climbed Mount Rainier, completed a triathlon, and graduated from Duke University's Fuqua School of Business with his MBA. The Army Times named Captain Smiley its Soldier of the Year in 2007, and in 2008 he won an ESPY as the world's Best Outdoor Athlete. Captain Smiley, a recipient of the Bronze Star and Purple Heart, recently taught leadership at the United States Military Academy (West Point), and is currently an Assistant Professor of Military Science at Gonzaga University in Spokane, Washington. Captain Smiley was recently named a recipient of the Army's prestigious MacArthur Leadership Award, currently holds an honorary PhD from Mount Stain Mary College in Newburgh, New York, and is the author of Hope Unseen: The Story of the U.S. Army's First Blind Active-Duty Officer.

Captain Smiley and his wife, Tiffany, are both from Pasco, Washington, where Captain Smiley captained the Pasco High School Bulldogs to a Class 4A State Football Championship. Tiffany, who played college soccer at Whitworth, is a registered nurse. They are the proud parents of Grady Douglas and Graham Elliott.

Kaplan University History

Kaplan University's roots trace back to 1937 with the founding of the American Institute of Commerce. Today, Kaplan University serves approximately 49,000 online and campus-based students throughout the country and around the world. The University, which has its main campus in Davenport, Iowa, and its academic headquarters in Chicago, is accredited by The Higher Learning Commission (www.ncahlc.org) and is a member of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

In addition to many associate's and bachelor's degree programs, the University offers several online master's degree programs in business, legal studies, education, nursing, and public safety, among others. Kaplan University also provides students a suite of personalized services and rich academic support through online tutoring, writing and mathematics labs, and web-based career planning diagnostics that help students craft a course of study to maximize their career potential.

Kaplan University offers a different school of thought for higher education. It strives to help adult students unlock their talent by providing a practical, student-centered education that prepares them for careers in fast-growing industries. Graduates receive comprehensive education through disciplined, professional programs of instruction. The University was founded to provide professional business training and has achieved this objective for 75 years by keeping abreast of employment demands, employer needs, teaching methods, and the use of various educational resources and industry-standard technology and equipment.

The Mace

The mace was originally a medieval weapon that was carried by bishops of the church into battle as a protective device. The mace has survived for more than 900 years in a shape similar to that of a club, which commemorates its very early use.

In later times, the mace was carried by sergeants-at-arms who were bodyguards of kings and others of high rank. Both Richard I of England and Phillip II of France ordered their sergent-at-arms to carry a ceremonial mace. Legislative bodies, such as the English Parliament, also adopted the ceremonial mace as part of the pomp and circumstance associated with opening the meeting of the body.

As universities developed during this same period, they too adopted the mace for use in academic processions. Today, the mace is carried by the Macebearer who leads the platform party, which includes the University President and other dignitaries, onto the stage for the graduation ceremony.

Throughout history, special craftsmen were presented with the task of decorating the mace so it carefully embodied the history, traditions, and symbols of the academic institution. Often, leading citizens or alumni of a university would donate the mace at the time of a special event.

Academic Regalia and Dress

Robes and hoods worn during the commencement are steeped in a tradition that dates back to the eleventh century, when the monks who administered Oxford University in England wore shoulder capes to protect themselves from scratches when they gathered alms and hoods to protect their shaven heads from the cold. Eventually, the garb became daily attire and served as insulation from the damp and cold inside the University's walls, and as identification that one had permission to pass into specific college buildings.

In the United States, the academic robes and hoods were first adopted as ceremonial attire for college officials in 1754 at the institution now known as Columbia University. In 1885, students in many of the country's colleges and universities launched a movement to permit graduating candidates to wear robes and caps during the commencement. Eight years later, an intercollegiate commission of university officials adopted the country's first code of color and design for the academic garb. Faculty soon adopted the custom of wearing gowns at commencement and other academic ceremonies. Although the code has been revised many times, today's academic regalia represent those modifications accepted in 1960 and adopted by nearly 95 percent of the nation's postsecondary institutions.

In the United States today, the academic robe is most often black; some institutions, however, sanction the use of specific colors. The length of the robe, the width of the sleeves' borders, and the length of the hood all increase with each advanced degree. Colors in the hood identify both the specific field of study in which the degree was earned, as shown by the velvet border, as well as the institution that granted it, as shown by the lining. The following color table provides a key to the fields of study according to the Intercollegiate Code:
