Commencement Speaker

Desiree Rogers

- CEO, Johnson Publishing Company, LLC
- White House Special Assistant to President Obama, 2009–2010
- White House Social Secretary, 2009–2010

Desiree Rogers, chief executive officer (CEO) of Johnson Publishing Company, LLC has earned a reputation as one of America's most successful businesswomen. With a Harvard Business School degree and stellar business experience, Rogers has redefined every leadership position that she has held while playing a major philanthropic role in the communities in which she has lived.

In her first year as CEO, Ms. Rogers has recruited an entirely new senior team, secured outside financing and restored both publications to their published rate bases of 1.250 million (EBONY) and 800,000 thousand (JET). In April of 2011, EBONY was relaunched with its first cover-to-cover redesign. In January 2012, Johnson Publishing Company launched the new ebony.com website.

Consistently acknowledged as an innovative leader with a proven track record, her career milestones include turning the Illinois Lottery—a mature organization facing rising competition and anti-gaming forces—into a stable, reliable, and popular, revenue producer that revolutionized the sale of instant tickets through promotional partnerships. During her tenure, instant ticket sales doubled to 600 million.

In 2004, Rogers was elected president of People Energy's two natural gas utilities where she facilitated the 150-year-old company's transition from a traditional, under the radar entity to a responsive, customercentric organization. During the company's acquisition by the $7 billion Integrys Energy Group, Rogers led the integration of the two utilities.

In 2008, President Obama named Rogers the first African American Social Secretary. As Social Secretary, her mandate was to help people visualize what the Obama presidency is about, the values Americans voted for: inclusion, transparency, and the embracement of all people. She was recruited to reposition the Obama's nontraditional vision of the White House to the "People's House." Her office produced 350 events in her 14-month tenure and turned the White House into a showcase for American art and culture.

A bold visionary, Rogers has the ability to develop creative solutions for mature organizations facing changing industry dynamics or consumer tastes. Spearheading the development of a social networking strategy for Allstate and creating innovative concepts for events at the White House, Rogers continued to redefine operational approaches. Thomas Wilson, chairman and CEO of the Allstate Corporation, recruited Rogers and in a few short months, she had "started to extend her influence and drive change inside the company from her position on the executive committee."

Rogers is widely credited for her ability to identify and motivate talent to challenge existing assumptions using brand discipline and superior communication skills to create new pathways for success.

Kaplan University History

Kaplan University's roots trace back to 1937 with the founding of the American Institute of Commerce. Today, Kaplan University serves over 45,000 online and campus-based students throughout the country and around the world. The University, which has its main campus in Davenport, Iowa, and its academic headquarters in Chicago, is accredited by The Higher Learning Commission (www.ncahlc.org) and is a member of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

Kaplan University offers a different school of thought for higher education. It strives to help adult students unlock their talent by providing a practical, student-centered education that prepares them for careers in fast-growing industries. Graduates receive comprehensive education through disciplined, professional programs of instruction. The University was founded to provide professional business training and has achieved this objective for over 75 years by keeping abreast of employment demands, employer needs, teaching methods, and the use of various educational resources and industry-standard technology and equipment.

In addition to many associate's and bachelor's degree programs, the University offers several online master's degree programs in business, legal studies, education, nursing, and public safety, among others. Kaplan University also provides students a suite of personalized services and rich academic support through online tutoring, writing and mathematics labs, and web-based career planning diagnostics that help students craft a course of study to maximize their career potential.

Kaplan University has campuses in Iowa, Maine, Maryland, and Nebraska, and Kaplan University Learning Centers in Indiana, Florida, Maryland, Missouri, and Wisconsin. The Learning Centers are designed to provide onsite support services and some classroom-based courses for local Kaplan University online students.

The Mace

The mace was originally a medieval weapon that was carried by bishops of the church into battle as a protective device. The mace has survived for more than 900 years in a shape similar to that of a club, which commemorates its very early use.

In later times, the mace was carried by sergeants-at-arms who were bodyguards of kings and others of high rank. Both Richard I of England and Phillip II of France ordered their sergeant-at-arms to carry a ceremonial mace. Legislative bodies such as the English Parliament also adopted the ceremonial mace as part of the pomp and circumstance associated with opening the meeting of the body.

As universities developed during this same period, they too adopted the mace for use in academic processions. Today, the mace is carried by the Macebearer who leads the platform party, which includes the University President and other dignitaries, onto the stage for the graduation ceremony.

Throughout history, special craftsmen were presented with the task of decorating the mace so it carefully embodied the history, traditions, and symbols of the academic institution. Often, leading citizens or alumni of a university would donate the mace at the time of a special event.

Academic Regalia and Dress

Robes and hoods worn during the commencement are steeped in a tradition that dates back to the eleventh century, when the monks who administered Oxford University in England wore shoulder capes to protect themselves from scratches when they gathered alms and hoods to protect their shaven heads from the cold. Eventually, the garb became daily attire and served as insulation from the damp and cold inside the University's walls, and as identification that one had permission to pass into specific college buildings.

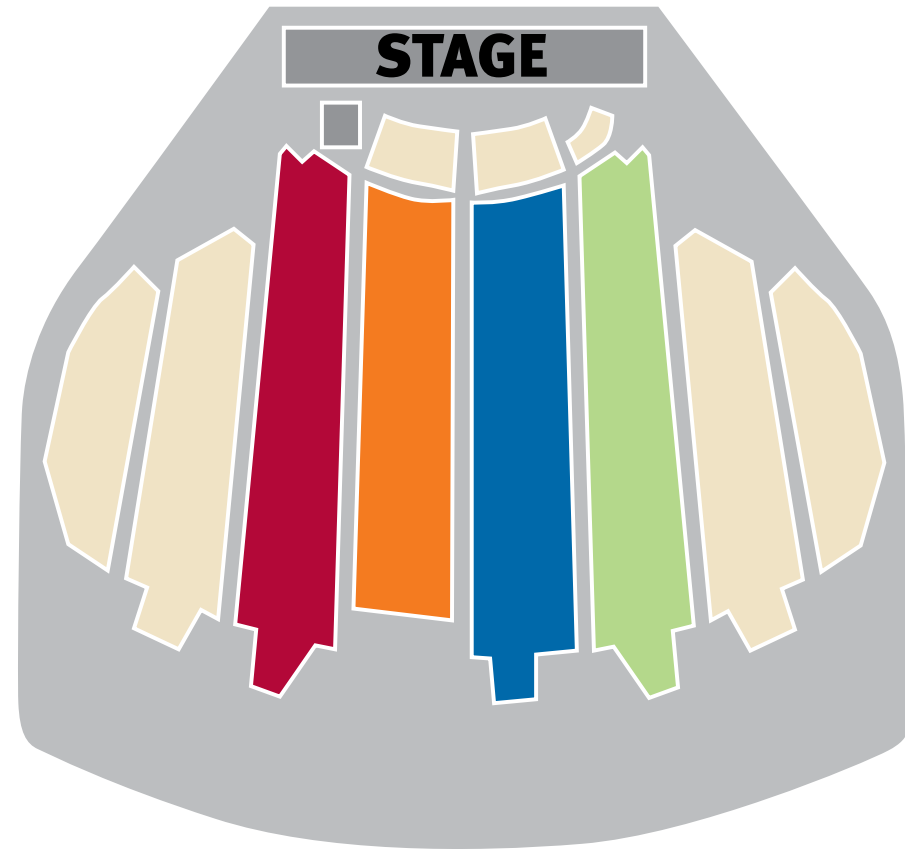

In the United States, the academic robes and hoods were first adopted as ceremonial attire for college officials in 1754 at the institution now known as Columbia University. In 1885, students in many of the country's colleges and universities launched a movement to permit graduating candidates to wear robes and caps during the commencement. Eight years later, an intercollegiate commission of university officials adopted the country's first code of color and design for the academic garb. Faculty soon adopted the custom of wearing gowns at commencement and other academic ceremonies. Although the code has been revised many times, today's academic regalia represent those modifications accepted in 1960 and adopted by nearly 95 percent of the nation's postsecondary institutions.

In the United States today, the academic robe is most often black; some institutions, however, sanction the use of specific colors. The length of the robe, the width of the sleeves' borders, and the length of the hood all increase with each advanced degree. Colors in the hood identify both the specific field of study in which the degree was earned, as shown by the velvet border, as well as the institution that granted it, as shown by the lining. The following color table provides a key to the fields of study according to the Intercollegiate Code:
